EXPLAINING WHY SOME OF US WOULD RATHER LIVE IN A TOWN ON A TOLL ROAD IN THE EVERGLADES THAN IN THE PATH OF TOURISTS ON EAST COAST

"I notice by a headline in that paper miles across you say. No, it ain't a fellow at Okechobee sold me it was thirty-three. I just been down to Palmetto, not much of a town no better than this. What wages do they pay good money? I'll take a job at three-dollar dollar a day if I could board right here. I won't pay no half dollar for a meal. Any opening here for a music teacher? My wife teaches piano, violin and most my instrument. She sung in the choir at the Methodist at home. How much rent but I don't think I'd live in a house at home. Gimme another of them cigarettes won't you, ain't you got a Camel? I smoke Camels and but a Chesterfield will do. How much farther is it to Palm Beach round by the water? I won't pay any more toll. My sister's car rolled off. They say it is made known that the tourist was in Florida. How wide is that Lake? Forty is on."

CANAL POINT

Hugo Boe has taken over and will operate the filling station at the Canal Point Garage. He quit his toll gate job last week.

C. B. Davis, who ran the lumber yard a few years ago, passed through here Monday on his way to the east coast, accompanied by his nephew, J. S. Davis, of Comfort, N. C. to show him the country. Mr. Davis is now living in North Carolina, having sold his store at Venice in order to go to Comfort and look after the business interests of relatives. He says he always liked Canal Point better than any town he was ever in and would like an opportunity to return here.

The Dr. E. J. Thomas building is being fixed up and it is understood a tenant is in prospect.

The roof was this week put on the building that houses the filtration plant and the building was given a first coat of paint.

The Taylor creek bridge on Conners highway is expected to be in this week. After that the traffic will not have to detour by way of Sherman mill.

An airplane landed in the lake Friday last week and let off a passenger who stepped here to get shells for dark suits. The plane is understood to belong to members of the Phipps family.

CANAL POINT HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Editors:
Carolyn Moore,
Joe Mac Smith,
Elizabeth Stuckey.

High school did not begin Wednesday as was expected because Miss Williams had not returned from her vacation, and Miss Young was sick. A number of pupils were absent also. Among this number were (Miss Vinson, Elizabeth and Verne Stuckey and Edna Mac Jensen).

Miss Young spent her Christmas holidays in Perry, Fla. Miss Trappell visited in Stuart, and Miss Williams visited in Monticello and Apopka.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Jenkins spent Christmas with their parents in Monticello.

One new pupil entered the ninth grade. This is Clarence R. Underwood who has been attending school at Sebring.

Mr. Revelle, the mathematics teacher, acquired a hide during the Christmas holidays. He ordered to be married here to go to Georgia of course, so according to the office of the State Board of Health he may not teach for two weeks after being out of the state.

In the meantime Mr. Johnson of Palmetto is his substitute. Some of the girls are thinking of taking up golf.

Among the many novel and useful Christmas gifts received by members of the student body was a lovely platinum (1) brooch set with a wall of silver and a cup of silver—both were presented to Devane Larimore.

Miss Emma Seifried had as her guest during the holidays, her sister, Miss Marie Seifried, who has been teaching the school in Canal Point and part of the holidays in West Palm Beach with her.

Mrs. Earl Maltland, former primary teacher, has started a one-lesson class of her own, having returned to Canal Point during the Christmas holidays, with her baby E. E. Jr. The High school pupils remember Mrs. Maltland as their dramatic director.

The heating system of the school (one heater to each room) has been improved. In appearance at least, by a fresh coat of paint.

A new tennis net has arrived for the school. Now the girls need not so run to reduce. Or were they running to reduce?

Children having severe colds have been required not to attend school until better. Every effort is being made to prevent an epidemic of colds.

Mrs. F. Fancher, formerly Miss Thelma Thornton, the home economics teacher of 26 and 27, with her husband, and her mother, sister and brother (Mrs. Maltland, S. C. who are visiting here) in West Palm Beach, returned during the holidays to visit friends and see the Everglades.

COMMUNITY GOSSIP

A Canal Point woman bought a pair of shoes in West Palm Beach and because they did not fit she tried to trade them in at the Highway store for another pair. The store asked her to put them on and walk back to West Palm.

Doc Haines of Kramer Island says Fort Pierce paper says the editor of this paper is a humorist. That's funny.

The Palmetto men who wants them called leaves instead of dykes directly attention to the fact that what he called last week was dykes, not leaves.

It was observed last week by a Canal Point man that we got a cold spell the day Commander Byrd sent a message from the south pole, and he wishes the Commander had kept quiet until he got his head cold off.

As Tallahassee isn't running the inaugural ceremony may be Tallahassee won't run the governor, either, and that may be reason for the irritation over the inaugural plans.

Sale of two cars of Lee county papers at $8 a crate in New York will tempt a poor sucker to think he can get $8,000 a car every year.

At the request of Theodore Blalock of Palmetto we are entering his denial that he has been asked to be a member of the Highway store. We are sorry to see because Mr. Blalock has as much right to be his name in the paper with a denial as have the other fellows who haven't been asked, either.

NOTICE

To Stockholders of Bank of Canal Point: The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Canal Point will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock p. m. on January 10, 1929. Meeting to be held in the bank building at Canal Point.

Take due notice thereof.

Frank Augustine is remodeling and re-fitting the "Willits" store, which will probably be ready for opening next week.

Ivan Van Horn expects to move into his home, which has been remodeled within the next few days. Mrs. Van Horn has divided her time between Cleveland and Miami since the storm. A new baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Walker recently. Her name is Estelle and she weighs 9 pounds.

Post visited the South Bay sector Friday night, killing practically all of the beans.

Last Sunday a number of old time residents and their friends visited old neighbors and scenes, among whom were the Parson and Gay families, Mrs. E. E. Forbes and mother and sister from Valdosta, Ga., Charles Forbes and his wife.

Frank Lockmiller and wife have moved into their new home.

Two farmers have started operations on Kitta Island, G. J. Barstow on Kitta and on the western side of the island and Mr. Crech who farmed on Kitta last winter.

Rev. Hoch spent Christmas with his family in Miami, where Mr. Hoch is living in order to keep Dwight and Paul in school.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Miss Geraldine Wiggins, who is attending Miami high school, spent the holiday vacation in Moore Haven with her father, Sheriff J. J. Wiggins. In the Miami school she is studying journalism.

Frank L. Franz, a pioneer at Okechobee and South Bay, is now a resident of Hensley county, having taken up residence at Felda, to which place he directs that his paper be mailed hereafter. It is really true that he has lost the muck lands it is surprising, for Frank was the staunchest champion of the lake region.

BELLE GLADE—CHOSEN

It Took 3,000,000 Years to Prepare The Land We Needed

Down in southern Florida there is a huge area, some 500,000 acres, in the form of a natural limestone bowl full of a rich, black muck, said by experts to be among the most fertile soils on earth. For something like three million years Lake Okechobee, adjoining this district on the north, has overflowed annually in a slow, thin sheet of water, carrying a load of silt, decomposed vegetable matter and mineral salts, and depositing them on the floor of the bowl.

Gradually this deposited soil began to appear above water in the form of islands. Then came a tough, dry growth known as saw grass. For countless thousands of years this saw grass has grown its yearly crop, died, rotted and become part of the earth limestone bowl.

In this region, called the Everglades, are combined a soil of astonishing fertility, an even climate, and an abundance of tropical sunshine. For twenty years the State and other agencies have been at work digging drainage canals to carry off the excess water, and at last the land is being released for use.

The Southern Sugar Company has acquired one hundred thousand acres of this fabulously rich muck land. Extensive experimental work has proved this region among the choicest on earth for sugar growing. Complete water control has been established on nearly forty thousand acres. Sugar cane has been planted sufficient to yield a crop of about 300,000 tons of cane in 1928, with two large extracting mills are ready to handle. All this has been done under the supervision of highly competent engineers and sugar operators. A booklet describing the Company's activities will be sent upon request.

HOWARD SHARP, Publisher.

NICARAGUA—AND THE EVERGLADES

Herbert Hoover, president-elect, visited South American countries to advance American interests, business interests, it is true, but the interests of all of us nevertheless.

American troops are in Nicaragua to maintain a government with which the United States can deal for the construction of the canal for which rights were bought under the Bryan-Chamorro treaty several years ago.

The Nicaraguan canal is to be built to supplement the Panama canal and America and for national protection.

Mr. Hoover's visit was to assure the South American governments that the American program was for mutual interest and not for aggression.

Three million dollars was paid to Nicaragua under the Bryan-Chamorro treaty and tens of millions of dollars will be spent in the construction of the canal.

Well and good. But exactly the same reason for federal appropriations for the control of Lake Okechobee exists as for the construction of Nicaragua canal.

There is reason for the investment of public money and private capital in the Central America and elsewhere in the world, and reason for the investment of public money and private capital in the Everglades. Business interests of the entire nation are advanced by the policy of carrying trade into the hands of the people by creating the conditions necessary for production and commerce.

We have lost the high admiration we had for Doc McKenzie of Leesburg—lost it because he advised against progress in the treatment of influenza. Doc and we are politicians. If we take his gratuitous jibe we ought to be willing to take our common cathartics.

As Doyle Carlton's inauguration comes first, the Washington committee has a chance to pick up some good ideas for use at the inaugural of Hoover.

A TIME FOR INTEREST AND ENERGY

Whatever action is to be taken by Congress in any matter that relates to the Everglades should be taken as speedily as possible, and it is true also that whatever Governor-elect Carlton is to do or whatever the commissioners of Everglades drainage are to do should be done without delay.

By the estimate of the Red Cross, 1,800 persons were drowned by the overflow of Lake Okechobee last September and if the population of the area had been larger the number of dead would have been larger. These deaths were due to the same cause that brought death to 400 persons at Moore Haven two years before. The property loss was heavy—$5,000,000 allotted by the Red Cross for rehabilitation is admittedly below the total of the losses, and there had been heavy losses from a flood in 1922 as there were losses in 1926 and 1928. Losses by the railway companies and the telephone and telegraph company and damaged to highways and to the properties of large industrial enterprises are not included in the amounts disbursed by the Red Cross.

The railroad is being rebuilt and the service of the telegraph, telephone and electric light companies is being restored; the railroad lines are being extended and the industrial corporations are increasing their outlays. The investments that are jeopardized are larger than before. The people are coming back to their homes and are returned to the protection of their equipment in farm lands and town properties. But the cause of the loss of lives and the damage to property has not been removed.

The fresh outlays of capital made in the Lake Okechobee region is evidence that the region has resources that deserve to be protected and developed, and the return of the flood refugees is still dependent upon Mr. Carlton, now governor-elect, as a candidate in the June primary declared his interest in the drainage and development project and his confidence in its ultimate soundness and stated his purpose to be to act helpfully in the event of his election. To assume that investors are making fresh outlays capital and the people are hardening their lives without reliance on promises of improvement in which they repose confidence is to charge them with reckless foolishness.

The declaration should be made boldly that if Governor Carlton and the commissioners of Everglades drainage district and the United States senators and representatives in Congress do not intend to act promptly and effectively, for the protection of life in the Lake Okechobee region, they are in honor bound to halt the movement of capital and human beings into this region that again is under way. The disasters of the past four years are solemn warnings.

The public officials who deal with Everglades affairs are under a grave responsibility, greater than rested upon their predecessors, for they have warnings and reminders of their responsibilities and if penalty has not yet been levied for indifference and delay, the suffering but piles up the retribution that will be asked in that too immediate time when the bodies of flood victims, too numerous for decent burial, are piled for holocaust.

A West Palm Beach paper has discovered that some Glades truckers planned to go to moonlight, which is contrary to the theory that planting should be done in the dark of the moon. As moonlight is the light that some truckers planned to use in the light of the sun on Sunday, A Pahokee man says he's going to be different and plant his beans in starlight.

To celebrate this grand industrial age, some gonias of the future may write into the composition of an opera troupe going over the bridge. If he is, it will be to record in sound the description that Nature attempted of bulk.

A deputy in the office of the state treasurer of Utah admits he stole $100,000 of the public money, and he says he lost it on horse races. Another argument for running horses in Florida for sex, if Florida had horse races the money probably would have come here.

It's easy to enforce the prohibition law if you know how. W. C. Durant paid $25,000 for a former enforcement officer's opinion that a 14-year-old California school boy told him for $1,000 how to do it.

THE NEWS—CANAL POINT, PAHOKEE, BELLE GLADE, FLORIDA

OKEELANTA

Dec. 11, 1928.

The houseboat moored at the 57th mile post and occupied by several duck hunters left for the lake region after several days' stay, last Wednesday.

Dave Hetherington returned to his place during the past week from a refugee camp at Palm Beach. For the present he is repairing the wrecked duck house and a shelter while rebuilding his own.

A generous Christmas dinner was enjoyed at the Cove by the residents and the Miami Canal settlers.

Mrs. Henry Berd, who was absent during the hurricane visiting relatives in Virginia, her husband and Bert Little, Harry Marshall and his fellow trapper Meyer from the state of Illinois, were also dinner guests. A pleasant time was had.

The ground promises to be dry enough for plowing and planting by the 15th of January.

More of the settlers would venture into our vicinity if they could reach Okeelanta by rail. The want of a bridge across the 3 mile canal to the north of town hinders any influx of former residents. South Bay cannot even be reached about, though the most of us have paid taxes for 15 years. Cars of barge taxes to be parked in a night, burning out at present.

A happy New Year!

AROUND THE LAKE

There is live interest all around the lake in the celebration that it is to be held at Clewiston Jan. 14 when the Southern Sugar Company's mill starts grinding.

The elevation of Calosahatchee canal at Moore Haven is held at close around 14½ feet, and the lake has ranged between 17.3 and 17.6 feet, Chas. H. Phillips makes daily readings of the stages.

Publisher William Griffiths of the Okechobee News seems to have taken a holiday week vacation, for although he issued a paper and protected the legal advertisement, he must appear cautiously, there was very little local news in the issue of December 28.

Five couples were united in marriage at Moore Haven during the Christmas holiday week. T. P. Winter, teacher of agriculture in the high school, was one of the groomsmen, the bride was Miss Ethel Rose of Arcadia. A Clewiston lady, Mrs. Lola Irene Cason, was married to John T. Walker of Tampa. The other couples were Lawrence Shaw of Moore Haven and Miss Florence Kemp of Neocate, Theodore Beck of Lakesport and Miss Marie Strickland of Moore Haven and George M. Snodgrass and Miss Lola Crosby.

TOM WOODS KILLED

Tom Woods, a partially paralyzed business man, was shot with buckshot and killed at Okeelanta Saturday night by a man named Slom in whose home Woods was a boarder. Slom lived in the Canal Point district several years ago. At Okeelanta he ran a lunch stand. His wife was a former Mrs. Moffat, once a resident of Canal Point.

MOORE HAVEN

(From The Democrat, Dec. 28) Earl R. Smith returned Sunday from New York where he was called several weeks ago by the serious illness of Mrs. Smith's uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Griffith, and Dove Crews were visiting relatives in Okechobee Sunday.

Attorney and Mrs. R. C. Horne returned to their home in Madison this morning after spending the holidays with Mrs. Horne's sister, Mrs. Lloyd Farnam.

Duncan Moffat, formerly of Moore Haven, who is now making his home in Venice, was here Sunday and Monday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ford A. Flanders.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bellamy of Tampa are spending several weeks here visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. Eberhart and Judge and Mrs. D. L. Lerche. Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy were formerly residents of Moore Haven and have been kept busy greeting old friends.
